Executive V.I.P. Protection

Executive protection has become a primary area of concern for governments, ministers, diplomats, CEO's, multinational companies and private citizens.

The increasingly complex dynamics of society makes it very difficult and challenging to effectively protect a personality from constant developing threats and attacks. Growing hostile, criminal and terrorist activities motivated by political, religious, social, military, economic and emotional parameters make Executive VIP Protection a very difficult objective to achieve. Therefore, individuals seeking to develop their career in this sector require professional training that is realistic and effective in neutralizing different forms of attack.
