Operational Body Language

The Operational Body Language course is designed to give participants the ability to identify potential suspects according to their behavioral and physical traits and take necessary steps accordingly. This process is extremely important in an era of suicide bombing as well as preventing and recognizing the adversary's intentions prior to execution.

These topics are listed in a generalized version and are not in a chronological order. The list does not include sub topics. The main topics of this course include:

- Profiling techniques
- Methods of operational identification
- Detection techniques of personality patterns
- Observation and operational cross examination techniques
- Methods of detecting hidden traits
- Methods of detecting multiple personality traits
- Body language specific to suicide bombers
- Body language specific to suspect identification
- Operational behavior specific to "object"
- Body language specific to checking and searching procedures
- Body language specific to armed assailants carrying concealed weapons
- Operational identification and risk categorization of individuals
- Practical simulations
- Body language and the culture of the specific environment
