Public Transportation Security

In the aftermath of the latest events, Condor offers Israeli doctrine transportation security courses for special units safeguarding the passengers in trains, buses, ships, metro and any other means of transportation used by the public.

Special courses for taxi drivers are also available.

Organizations and security personnel seeking to develop their security skills in this field are cordially asked to contact us for additional information.

These courses are instructed by professional elite instructors that have served as top advisors to transportation security.

Specific attention is given to every means of transportation and its specific security system specifications. This training includes preventive and neutralization tactics for each transportation system including tactics in fighting terrorism and suicide bombers.
