Managerial Preventive Security Tactics

The increasingly complex dynamics of industrial societies makes it imperative to maximize our resources in order to attain our global objectives.

This process can only be achieved with strong managerial decision making qualities. Operational decision making during high stress situations is crucial for the survival of any organization.

Professional security management is perhaps the most difficult, volatile and challenging objective to achieve. Professional security management is the result of vast field experience in different security fields combined with the selection of effective managerial strategies of vast security systems and professional manpower.

This function requires a deep understanding of security doctrines and operational methods designed to neutralize the numerous threats facing modern societies.

Condor offers a course in managerial preventive security tactics that is officially recognized by the Israeli Ministry of Defense.

Condor has all the necessary facilities in order to instruct courses in Israel. These facilities include vast equipment, firing ranges, training camps, weapons, combat equipment, conference rooms, simulation centers, accommodation and all the logistical infrastructure required.

Condor provides consulting and training services at a client's requested destination.

These subjects are listed in a generalized version and are not in a chronological order. The list does not include sub topics. The main topics of the course include:
