Managerial Anti Kidnapping Tactics

Nowadays, kidnapping has become a major threat to western societies, governments, corporations, multinationals and families.

Managers have become a primary target for criminal and terrorist organizations that wish to achieve financial, religious, media and personal objectives.

This process includes different phases that are crucial in the kidnapper's rate of success:

- Selection of person
- Studying the subject, his surroundings, routine, residence, work etc.
- Selection of kidnapping method
- Selection of personnel
- Training
- Alternative plan
- Emergency plan
- Execution

In most cases the manager is helpless during kidnap execution and is isolated from his environment and used as tool for assassination or negotiation purposes.

This course is designed to offer managers the preventive tools, operational behavior techniques, and methods of counteracting kidnap attacks.
